Army Downs Air Force 10-6 in Football Match

Yesterday's Game First In Intercompany Schedule

By P. C. B.

Yesterday afternoon, at 4.30 p.m., the intercompany football schedule got under way as Army and Airforce took the field. Army opened up the offensive by drawing first blood, and kept it up to carry the game 10-6.

Cold wintry blasts swept the stadium, and all five spectators huddled in their seats. For the first few minutes of the game the ball moved back and forth all over the field. Ouimet kicked the first point for Army, when Fitzpatrick of the Airforce squad failed to run the ball out from behind the line. Army seemed to be in fine form, and were not long in following up their opening bid. Marriott, this time, booted the leather over the line to score the second point for the Army blue. Shortly afterwards, Gibson intercepted an Airforce pass, but was unable to run the ball any distance. Near the end of the quarter, Army completed a forward to the Airforce 4 yard line, but were unable to score. Thus, the first fifteen minutes of play found Army out in front to the tune of 2-0.

FUMBLES PREVAIL

The second quarter saw Airforce looking better, with Rapelje kicking well. The boys in the Red sweaters had their back against the wall, and tried hard to score. Army opened the scoring once more, however, when Cleary completed a forward from Smith to score a touchdown. The touch was not converted. Army fumbled on their 38 yard line, and the ball was recovered by Victor of the Airforce squad. Army fumbled once more on the Airforce kick, and MacDonald fell on the ball to make a touchdown for Airforce. The point was converted, bringing Airforce up to 6, Army 7.

Another fumble, by Airforce this time, gave the ball to Army on the Airforce 40 yard line. Lafolley ran through a hole in the Airforce line to carry the ball to the 10 yard line. A placement kick, by Marriott made the score 10-6 for Army.

SECOND HALF DULL

A poor kick by Airforce started off the second half. An Airforce pass was intercepted by Poulson, who ran about forty yards before being tackled by MacDonald on the Airforce 1 yard line. Marriott tried a placement kick which went wide of the posts. The Army team then tried an end run which went offside. Airforce kicked the ball back to centre field; and from then on fumbles and incompleted forwards prevailed until the end of the third quarter.

Early in the last quarter tempers flared, and the Airforce team were penalized 10 yards. Poulson intercepted another Airforce pass, but was soon brought down. Two more Airforce passes were intercepted, one by Gibson and the other by E. Smith. Army's kick was blocked, and the Airforce team had the ball on their opponent's 40 yard line. First down resulted in an incompleted pass. Airforce bucked the line for two yards, after which they tried another pass which was in-

Eight Softball Teams Meet in Games Today

Four games in the Intercompany Softball League are to be played today on the upper field near Douglas Hall, and all companies will see action. At 9.00 a.m. G Company meets C, at 10.30 the A Company squad battles with the D team, at 1.00 E Company takes on F Company, and at 2.30 the Independents play B.

In their first clash of the season the softball teams of F Company and Independents battled to a scoreless draw yesterday afternoon in a game which amounted to a pitcher's duel. The stylish pitching of Horace Graves of the Independents and Dion of F Company kept down the total number of hits to four apiece, and at no time did a player reach second base.

Skiing Team Loses Many By Graduation

Outing Club Will Meet to Discuss New Plans

The question of how McGill will be represented in the coming Dartmouth Carnival has lost some of its importance this year in view of the loss of seven stars. The main trouble to confront the meeting of the Outing Club next week will be the organization of a team—official or unofficial—potent enough for such stiff competition.

The ranks have been depleted mostly through graduation and subsequent enlistment. Doug Mann for four years a slalom and downhill sensation, is now in the Air Force Captain Don Tirrell and Bob Townsend, slalom king, have been wearing McGill colors for longer than most students can remember. Fred Moore and Chris Mamen, after four years' service have also received their sheepskins. And Harry Scott, who competed for the first time last year, has graduated.

VETERAN JUMPER REMAINS

Of the remainder, Kaare Olsen, a versatile man has been declared ineligible because of studies. Earl Morris, last year's intercompany sensation, suffered a fractured leg in an exhibition football game, is on the shelf, but was on the point of entering the Navy, anyway. This leaves John Foster, the only active veteran, but his specialty, jumping, plays only a minor part in the Darthmouth Meet.

Reed Hyde, who has been Ski Manager for many years, optimistically declares, in true McGill spirit, that this year's outfit will feature new blood, and will be as strong and versatile as ever.

System for Coy. Scoring

Losing Team to Receive Five Points

Since the intercompany sports schedule is well under way by this time, it might be well for the student to keep in his mind the importance of the point participation scoring system, for it is by this means that the winning company will be chosen at the end of the term.

The system was devised mainly from the experience gained from last year, and it aims to award points for willingness to play as well as for athletic ability. No longer will five points be deducted for a default, but any team that plays a game will be awarded five points, and the winner will get an extra five.

SCALE OF SPORTS

The major sports will receive a greater percentage of the aggregate points than a minor sport. The importance of each entry depends on the number of students participating and upon the number of meets held, or of games played.

The scoring system as issued by the athletic office follows:

TEAM SPORTS

Volleyball, Basketball, Waterpolo, Softball, Rugby, Soccer, Touch Rugby, English Rugby, etc.
5 points for every game played.
5 additional points for the team which wins the game.

Watt Enters Finals in Net Tournament

Meets Winner of Henneman vs. Richer For Cup

One entry has now been filled in the finals of the men's singles tennis tournament, as Bob Watt went out yesterday morning to down Brendan Macken in a four set semi-final match. This was the toughest fight of the ten-day old tourney for the Westmount star. Previously, he had lost only three games during the entire tournament and these he had only given up on Tuesday to Brodeur, in his fourth match. The score went 2-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

In this upper half of the draw, the matches have thus run pretty much according to schedule. Bob Watt was top-seeded in the draw and progressed easily, until he came up against his first seeded opponent, Macken. The latter was third in the favoured list, and reached the semi-finals as was anticipated.

WATT HARD PRESSED

Macken started fast, and surprised Watt by taking the first set handily. The latter, however, came back to win the second by a similar score, 6-2, and went on to cop the match. In the final set Watt was only able to break through his opponent's service once, but this was enough to give him the deciding advantage.

Watt and Macken continued to hold the spotlight, as they went out after their gruelling match to play in doubles quarter-finals, in the afternoon. In this department, they were the top-ranking pair, and went on to defeat Henneman and Marien, 6-3, 7-5.

RICHER MEETS HENNEMAN

In the lower half, Jean Richer engages Henneman today in the other semi-final round, and barring weather difficulties, the tournament should close tomorrow. Richer, last year's champion, is seeded second, and is shooting for his second straight trophy, and his first chance to meet Watt in a McGill tournament. He, too, has been running true to form. After winning his first round by default, he went through to the semi-finals in straight sets, his victims including Heinz Heinrich, seeded sixth. Henneman, on the other hand, has had the hardest going of any of the top

Sports Rally Featured in Military Tattoo

General Public Admitted Free To Gala Show

McGill athletes will be well represented in the military tattoo scheduled for Wednesday next. The program includes a football game between two McGill teams and a relay race between the members of the armed forces, with the M.R.T.B. well represented. In addition, an exhibition of Indian club swinging will be put on by members of the University. Admission is free not only to the Sons and Daughters of Old McGill, but to John Q. Public and his friends as well.

The football game is to be the main feature of the tattoo, one fifteen-minute half being played in each half of the event. The teams are to be made up on a Frosh-Soph versus Junior-Senior basis, and since the Freshmen are strong this year, the match will probably be pretty hotly contested. In addition to this, there seems to be a good deal of gentlemanly antagonism between the new men and their betters, and this should be an added factor in making the game exciting.

STRONG RELAY TEAMS

Units from the vicinity have gone to a good deal of trouble to put on the military display, but in them the spirit of competition also runs high. They have agreed to field a quartet of runners for the 440 yard relay race which will be one of the most colorful events of the program. The competitors will run in the uniform of their respective units, and in order that there be no inequality, the Air Force have agreed to don regular army boots. The Canadian Grenadier Guards, the Victoria Rifles, the Fusiliers de Montreal, the Navy, and the Air Force will each field a team; and the R.H.C. will have two teams, one to represent each battalion. The University will be represented by four members of the M.R.T.B.

There will be two races, each of four teams, and the final winner will be picked on a basis of time. The starting positions are to be

Tracksters Compete in 69th Annual Meet Today

Finals Draw Near in Co-ed Tennis Tourney

One spot around McGill where there has not been much racket this week—er—racquet, to be exact, is the female section of the McTavish St. courts. Tennis lists on the R.V.C. bulletin board are still blank in the same places. Competitors are asked to take advantage of the present favourable weather conditions to play off their remaining games.

Games yet to be played are as follows:

Second round—
P. Holt vs. R. Renshaw.

Third round—
T. Stevens vs. winner of above match.
B. Mercer vs. E. Russell.
C. Renshaw vs. M. Cross.
M. Carmichael vs. J. Jenkins.

The Physical Ed Tournament, strangely enough, seems to be way behind. One lone contestant has reached the third round.

Red Golfers Compete at Islesmere

Jack Keay Defends Title In Match Today

The annual McGill Golf tournament gets underway this morning at the Islesmere Golf and Country Club with the first tee off at 9.30. The line-up includes several freshmen with experience in City tourneys, and stiff competition is expected as the golfers attempt to wrest the crown from Jack Keay, last year's winner.

All those desiring transportation must be at the Arts Building at 8.30 a.m., and contestants with cars are expected to meet at the same time and place so that the transportation of all players can be arranged. The green fee is $1.50, which includes dinner at the club house at noon. Points will be awarded to the companies on the basis of participation and extra points for the winner and runner-up.

GOLF DRAW

2.30 Starting Time For Meet at Molson Stadium

The 69th annual McGill track and field meet gets underway today at 2.30 p.m. at Molson's Stadium with fourteen events scheduled to be run off during the afternoon. This will be the second year that this meet has been on an Intercompany basis.

With and lectures and drills cancelled today the students will have every opportunity to turn out and enter at least one event on the extensive program. Coach Van Wagner wishes to stress that today's meet is being held for everyone who has any ability whatever in this line. Post entries will be excepted at any time up to starting time of the event.

10 MEN COUNT

The first ten men to finish each event are going to score for their company and since the entries listed to date show that none of the events have more than this number of entries anyone has a good chance to place among the point getters. This meet will not be the same as other track meets in the past for Coach Van Wagner stressed last night that it was to be more of a informal field day with everyone turning out to give his best for his company.

SMALL ENTRY LIST

Only 20 men have signed the lists for the meet so far and these men have entered an average of three events each but there is only a small number of novices who have entered to date. Since ten men count in each event these fellows have a fine chance of counting despite any lack of practice.

Following is a list of the officials for tomorrow's meet:

Referees:
Lieut.-Col. J. M. Morris
Dr. F. J. Tees

Directors:
Dr. A. S. Lamb
Mr. F. M. Van Wagner

McGill Plays Host

This year McGill have the honor of playing hosts to a group of R.C.A.F. men who are training for radio technical work on the campus. Everybody has seen these lads in blue as they go through the campus between lectures but there is very little talk about them and very little personal contact has been made between them and the McGill students.

The common desire for athletic recreation of these boys and McGill students is a means, however, for McGill to make our visitors feel at home. Arrangements have been made for each of the two squadrons on the campus to enter teams in the different McGill Intercompany leagues and later on when platoon sports get underway each of the flights will enter teams.

Although the work which these fellows have to cover in a very short time is enormous, the way in which they turn out every Wednesday afternoon for sports is remarkable. Practically every man is up at the stadium to take part in some sport and McGill students may well take notice of this enthusiasm and take more advantage of the far better chances which they have for organized sports.

Although the Air Force men have not taken part in any games with McGill students as yet it is certain that these games should be well matched and interesting to watch. This is McGill's chance to entertain their wartime guests so let us all join in welcoming them into our sports organization and give them a good time in all their games with M.R.T.B. company teams.

Perhaps We're Wrong

Perhaps because McGill students have the habit of never reading the editorials, we haven't received what we'd call an overwhelming response to yesterday's request for student opinion on our suggested Council of War.

In fact, we have received rather more attention from the downtown press, which regarded our editorial as representative of McGill trends, and suggested that the Council would shortly become a reality.

We hope that their assumption is justified, and that the proposed Council of War will soon begin to function—but until a little more response on the part of the students is evidenced, we won't present the matter to the Students' Executive Council.

Quite a number of encouraging letters have been received, but more are needed to give a true expression of McGill's views on the subject. We know that there are many others just as enthusiastic, who are hesitant about expressing themselves in print—but we believe that this project is more important than those scruples.

We may be wrong. Students may feel that the war is none of their business, and that a War Council is so much more wasted time, along with nuisances like military training and Salvage Drives. Student opinion may, under the surface, regard university education as a convenient escape from the realities of the day—but we're hopeful enough to believe that such is not the case.

No effort is going to be wasted this year. Our War Council, unless it receives student support from the very beginning, will be a wasted effort. The Executive Council is certainly not going to push the idea down your collective throat if you don't want to take the responsibility for the success of the idea. Its success is your responsibility—we must have your opinion and your support.

Whether you agree with the idea or not, whether you feel it's worth working for or not—let's hear about it. Drop your written thoughts in at the Tuck Shop in the Union today or tomorrow, addressed to the Daily's "Letter Forum." Once we have your support we'll give you immediate action.

The Dialtwister

New York Philharmonic Enters Second Century

The oldest Symphony Orchestra in the United States and the third oldest in the world, the New York Philharmonic, is now celebrating a gala Centennial Season. Its Sunday afternoon concerts are carried locally by Station CKAC at 4.00 p.m.

A group of public-spirited citizens of New York in 1842 proposed the establishment of a "large and permanent society" whose object should be "the study and rendering of symphonies, overtures and other classical music in such a manner as to cultivate a more general knowledge and a more correct public taste." The Philharmonic's first concert was held on December 7, 1842, under the direction of a musician from Connecticut named Ureli Corelli Hill.

Hill was the first of a line of illustrious conductors which included Theodore Thomas, Mahler, Mengelberg, and Toscanini. Other great conductors will appear with the Philharmonic during its one hundredth season, which will include a series of twenty-eight concerts. Among the conductors will be Stokowski, who will direct his second of two concerts next Sunday; the permanent conductor, John Barbirolli, Bruno Walter, Arthur Rodzinski of the Cleveland Orchestra, and Dimitri Mitropoulos of the Minneapolis Symphony.

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. Stokowski will present a program consisting of his own transcription of "Pictures at an Exhibition" by Mussorgsky, the popular Symphony in D minor by Cesar Franck, and the Guaracho from Morton Gould's "Latin American Symphonette."

Music Lover's Delight.

If Station CFCF can see its way clear to shifting its newscast from 10.30 p.m. to 10.15 p.m., Tuesday should be a big night this season for lovers of symphonic music. If this is arranged it will be their pleasure to listen to two solid hours of fine music played by two outstanding Symphony Orchestras—the NBC Symphony now (CFCF 10.45-11.30 p.m.), and our own Concerts Symphoniques (CBM 9.30-10.30).

Efrem Kurtz will feature Schumann's Symphony No. 4 in his first concert as guest conductor of the NBC Symphony Orchestra on Tuesday evening. Mr. Kurtz's program will also include the overture to "Le Roi d'Ys" by Lalo, the scherzo from the Ninth Symphony by Bruckner, and Tschaikowsky's Suite No. 3.

Desire Defauw, permanent conductor of Les Concerts Symphoniques, has not yet announced his program for his first concert which will take place next Tuesday evening.

Spooky Stuff.

Sponsors of the shivery Sunday night "Inner Sanctum Mystery" series, which will feature Burgess Meredith as guest star next Sunday, have decided to discontinue studio audiences on future programs. Reason announced is that several less hardy visitors have fainted (which is bad enough) but the disturbance upsets the cast. Listen to Meredith's villainous portrayal in "Hell Is Where You Find It" and you'll understand. (P.S.—Keep a bottle of smelling salts at your side.)

Scanning the Air Lanes.

The big game on tomorrow's American football schedule is the Navy-Cornell tussle. Bill Stern, radio's number-one man of football will give his vivid play-by-play description of this gridiron feature (CFCF 2.45 p.m.).... Lansing Hatfield, young Metropolitan Opera baritone, is the guest soloist of conductor Andre Kostelanetz and violinist Albert Spalding on "The Pause That Refreshes" program (Sunday, CKAC 5.30 p.m.).... Gladys Swarthout, Ross Graham and Deems Taylor team up for another "Family Hour" outpouring of America's best-loved music (Sunday, CKAC 6.00 p.m.).... The "Silver Theatre" presents the concluding chapter of "Eternally Yours," two-part drama starring Judy Garland (Sunday, CKAC 7.00 p.m.).... Helen Hayes is heard in the starring role in a radio adaptation of Rose Wilder Lane's successful novel, "Let the Hurricane Roar" in her own theatre of the air (Sunday, CKAC 9.00 p.m.).... Tyrone Power and his French screen-star wife, Annabella, are co-starred in radio's blue-ribbon dramatic program, "Lux Radio Theatre" in an adaptation of "Blood and Sand" (Monday, CKAC 10.00 p.m.). Set in romantic old Spain, "Blood and Sand" is a story of courage, love and passion, woven around a human triangle and with the bull-fighting arena for colorful backdrop.... Another exciting dramatic story of the "Illustrated Press," starring Edward G. Robinson as Managing Editor Steve Wilson and Ono Munson as his ace reporter (Wednesday, CKAC 9.00 p.m.).... Bing Crosby is leading his race-horses back to their stables and will return to the Kraft Music Hall next Thursday evening (CBM 10.00 p.m.).... —I. A. S.

Youth Odyssey

(Last Friday's Daily ran a news item, an interview with Miss Ruth Shirley. Because of its interest to college students everywhere, it was decided to run a fuller account of the "American Youth Odyssey.")

The "American Youth Odyssey" is a plan formulated by Miss Ruth Shirley, a young Texan who speaks with the tones of one who has absolute faith in her plan.

"To release the creative imagination of American youth by education through experience; to open the eyes of Americans to help discover the 'Bluebird' in our own backyard," is the basic idea of the "American Youth Odyssey."

The realization that America's future as well as that of the rest of the world depends on that era that will follow the peace after the war has impressed itself so deeply on the minds of many American students and young people that when this idea of the Odyssey was brought forth, they immediately took this up as the only way in which United States, Canada and all other countries actually untouched by the hand of war could materially and spiritually help Europe regain its moral and cultural equilibrium. This has been the finding of Miss Shirley as she travelled all over the United States speaking to students, public officials and societies.

Although Miss Shirley's plan calls for peace, she must not be considered among the ranks of the Isolationists as she wants peace but "not any peace; we must have a complete peace, so that we can go over and start rebuilding Europe for itself."

The "Youth Odyssey" will be "American Youth's reply to the needs of war-torn Europe." People, young people, trained specially in summer camps and in experimental international living conditions will form the neucleus of a peacetime expedition of about five thousand Americans. These people will work in small groups in co-operation with similar groups formed of students of the European Universities. Together they will attempt to put Europe on its feet. Politics will not be the aim of the Odyssey. Its aim will be to help train Youth for their eventual posts as leaders of their various countries.

Funds for the year's training in International living will be provided by interested people, perhaps by the government, but there will be no political organization to hamper the work.

After the fiasco of American aid in the period following the last war, there was a definite emptiness and uneasy feeling in the minds of Americans. This is their opportunity to repair any ill-feeling that may have resulted from this.

The natural question regarding the Odyssey plan would be "Will the Europeans receive us in the proper frame of mind?" This side of the enterprise is being handled by a European, Georges Henri Martin, a Parisian whose father was a prominent editor in France before its downfall.

Miss Shirley and Mr. Martin are at present collaborating on a book to explain the meaning and value of the Odyssey. While studying in Geneva Miss Shirley stayed at the International House and there came into contact with people from all parts of the world, especially Europeans. Acquainted with these people and knowning their way of life and their way of thinking, Miss Shirley has definite reason to believe that her plan is suitable for all.

The actual workings of the plan are quite simple. At present the groundwork is being laid. She is working hard now with a group of volunteers who have faith in the idea to spread the plan over the United States. Addresses to student groups, public meetings, radio broadcasts all help to make America aware of the "Youth Odyssey." It will eventually be the combination of the efforts of every youth organization in America, taking part in the making of history instead of sitting back and watching it happen.

The operating unit of the Odyssey will be a trailer. Completely equipped and manned by a trained crew they will be able to work in their designated area as a complete unit. Dental clinics, medical clinics, engineers, chemists, water purification setups, seed, food, cigarettes, chocolate, soap, farm equipment will help to restore the feeling of security and peace among the citizens of the various countries of Europe. It will be "the moral equivalent of war, a means of transition from wartime to peacetime economy, a mobilization of democracy's forces—material and personnel—to help prevent post-war disillusionment and unemployment here and to help Europe by personally sharing her woes and aid in her hour of need and when she is in extreme difficulty at a historic moment, when otherwise, desperation might well allow the aftermath of war to be worse than war itself."

Set up in Europe, in the various communities, will be Central Reception and Student Committees aware of the task facing this peacetime expeditionary force and willing to co-operate so as to be of material aid in acquainting the visitors, or rather workers, of the idiosyncracies of the people encountered in the various districts. These committees will obtain the sanction from the local and government officials to allow the work to go on unhampered by "red tape."

A statement of policy and objective of the Youth Odyssey appears below. It is on these basic ideas that Miss Ruth Shirley has founded her plan. This has been the result of her lecture tour which has carried her four times across the continent since October, 1940.

THE AUTHORITY OF THE YOUTH ODYSSEY

1. Political.

Based on the mandate of public opinion and youth determined a world better fitted to mankind shall be constructed from this present violence.

2. Economic.

Based on the interlinked destinies of modern man in a world becoming smaller, the need of one country callingto the surpluses of another.

3. Spiritual.

Based on the brotherhood of man under the fatherhood of God.

THE OBJECTIVES OF THE YOUTH ODYSSEY

1. Material aid to Europe.

The needed articles at the right time.

2. Moral aid to Europe.

The hand of friendship, not pennies thrown to beggars with the breadline technique.

3. Development of understanding and better feeling between Europeans and Americans.

4. American youth participation in building a new world, to help assure that youth sacrifices in war shall not be negated at peace table.

THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE YOUTH ODYSSEY

A. In the United States—1. A public administrative agency and co-ordinating center.

2. Advisory Committee: editors, educators, journalists, writers.

3. Central Operating Board composed of representatives from each co-operating organization, such as Junior League, Scouts, universities, municipalities, NRA, etc.

B. In South America—Similar set-up, with variations as necessary.

C. For each European country—Central Reception and Student Committees.

This statement of policy is clear cut and needs no enlarging; it is simple and comprehensive.

At present Miss Shirley is back in New York where she will speak on the "Town Hall of the Air" Program and later make a National N.B.C. hookup address to reach as many people as possible with her plan. Meanwhile at the headquarters of the American Youth Odyssey in Henderson Castle, Washington D.C. a skeleton staff of volunteers is working hard to spread the story of the Youth Odyssey so that all who might consider themselves able candidates for the work, generally outlined above, may start preparing themselves for the day when the order to march will be given.

'CARUSO' OF MINERAL INDUSTRIES BUILDING LIGHTENS WORK FOR UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

A different version of the "singing in the bathtub" and "whistle while you work" ideas is the story of James Hartley of Morgantown.

Hartley is the workman who entertains fellow workers and passersby alike with a strong tenor voice from the heights of the fifth floor windows of the Mineral Industries building where he is a window glazer.

A radio singer for two years in Kentucky, Hartley says he likes most to sing cowboy songs. He is modest about his musical ability and said he sings only to make his work seem lighter. Hartley also plays the guitar.

Hartley's happy-go-lucky attitude (he sings almost incessantly during his work hours) is reminiscent of the "singing cop" of a few years ago who was given a tryout in grand opera because of the publicity he received for singing on his beat. —Athenaeum.

Dear Sir: I understand that, during the past week, any freshman or freshette observed without a green adornment was obliged to surrender an article of clothing or a telephone number, respectively. I trust that the latter, as well as the former, will pass through the hands of the auctioneer in the near future.

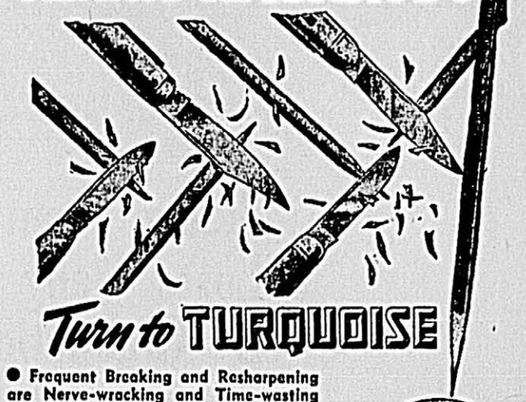
ARE YOU ALWAYS HACKING?



Turn to TURQUOISE

● Frequent Breaking and Resharpening are Nerve-wracking and Time-wasting

. . but easy to avoid. Try these tests: Note how a "Chemi-Sealed" TURQUOISE point stands up under pressure. Eagle's patented super bonding process saves many resharpenings by joining lead and wood inseparably to combine their strength against breakage. ¶ Note how long a TURQUOISE holds its point. Super-refined ingredients, compacted under sixty tons pressure, and fired at white heat, form a dense, uniform lead structure that wears down very slowly.

Gala Queens Celebrations In Progress

Premier King, Earl of Athlone Will Attend

By BERNARD WAND.
(C.U.P. Editor Queen's University.)

Queen's University is at present the meeting place of men of international import as it celebrates its Centennary in gala Gaelic fashion. Having started yesterday with a service of Remembrance and Thanksgiving the celebrations will continue till tomorrow night when a dance reminiscent of those which used to take place after Intercollegiate Football games will be held.

Delegates from the various Dominions of the Commonwealth, Universities and numerous institutions are all participating, each having some particular function to perform. Today, twenty-four Honorary LL.D. and D.D. degrees will be conferred, Dr. James and Dr. Collip of McGill being numbered among those who will receive them. The Reverend Luther Weigle, Dean, Divinity School, Yale, will express for the D.D.'s, and Dr. Camille Roy of Laval and the Hon. J. L. Ralston for the LL.D.'s appreciation on behalf of the general body.

Tonight a banquet will be held in the Gymnasium by the city of Kingston for the Delegates and Special Guests, amongst whom will be the Prime Minister and the Hon. Angus Macdonald.

Tomorrow will bring to a close the Centenary Celebrations. It will begin with a reunion of alumni and students and include greetings by the two oldest Alumni and by the Presidents of the Alumnae and Alumni Associations. Afterwards,

Military Training of Med Co-eds Announced

Women students in the first two years of Medicine are to be exempted from any form of military training, whatsoever, the university has announced.

Coeds in the last two years of medical training attend special lectures in military medicine, along with the men students of the clinical years. All other women students enrolled for degrees take military training courses and gym classes.

It has also been reported that the Department of National Defence will announce in the near future details of a standard arrangement that has been devised concerning the kind of training to be taken by certain other categories of medical students.

Linguistics Is Great Asset

J. L. Darbelnet Speaks Before McGill Alumnae

Stressing that a knowledge of a foreign language is a desirable thing which cannot be bought and that it can only be acquired by hard work, Prof. J. L. Darbelnet of the French Department spoke on the topic, "Using a Foreign Language," at a meeting of the McGill Alumnae Society.

Prof. Darbelnet stated that the study of a foreign language need not be considered a "chore" if the student puts heart and soul into the study. The study, once taken up, must be active and eager; it does not consist merely of listening to the words of a teacher.

A natural aptitude for language is not a prerequisite for its study, remarked the speaker; a student can express himself fairly well in a foreign language regardless of his gift. It has been found, however, that those gifted in mathematics and science are not generally skilled in languages.

There are a variety of purposes and various levels of attainment in learning a language, continued Prof. Darbelnet. Some people wish to learn just enough of the foreign words and grammar to be able to read the language, while others want to specialize in their study. In the former case, there is a danger of being acquainted with the literature of a language but not being able to understand its background.

In his talk Prof. Darbelnet expressed the belief that travellers, having to learn to speak several languages, never master any of them. He added that no student can fully understand the grammar and background of more than two languages. "Though a bilingualist is equally at home in both languages, in most cases there is one which he will use more spontaneously than the other," he stated. An interesting case in point is the one in which people speak one language at home and another elsewhere.

In his concluding remarks, the speaker said that learning a new language means a new way of feeling, a new way of looking at things, and a new personality for the student.

Mac Circle Hold Opening Smoker

Guest Speaker Announces 'Y' Salvage Drive

The Maccabean Circle held its first meeting of the year last night. The meeting was in the form of a smoker for the purpose of introducing freshmen and newcomers to upperclassmen as well as to the Maccabean Circle itself.

The president, Hyman Surchin, welcomed newcomers explaining that the Mac Circle was the official Jewish organization on the campus. He outlined the program of the Circle which will consist of meetings held every three weeks as well as musicales and socials. The next meeting will be held on Sunday, October 26th.

Harold Rosenbaum then outlined the activities of the Avukah which is a study group affiliated with the Circle. Following this, Jack Gotthell, of the Y.M.H.A. announced a salvage drive to take place on November 11, under the direction of the "Y". This drive will take place in the North-eastern section of the city and he enlisted the aid of the members of the Circle.

Last year's president, Wilfred Schuchat, then paid tribute to the abilities of the new executive and envisaged great things for the Circle. Refreshments were served to round off the evening.

Trapezograffitology Rages in Arts Building

By R.R.M.

"Did you ever see such a lot of trash on one desk?" In spite of the fact that someone has altered "on" to "at," this may well serve as a theme for such persons as do not hold with trapezograffitology (desk-scribbling to you). But for those who consider it a true art, an hour of investigation is a true enjoyment. Consider some typical examples.

The conversations are the most interesting by far. Let's begin with a feminine name, then ensues: High Babe, what's your number?" It is given.—Thanks, are you a good girl? or are you blonde?—Both.—Like to prove it?—That depends on what you mean.—Lay off you guy, she's mine, chimes in another.—What d'ya mean? She's my wife.—Gosh but you're a fast worker.—I got a sister, the young lady informs us.—Hey, I'm not fickle.—What a wonderful man you must be.—Oh yeah! I'm also not a hypocrite. Finis.

Comments on the work run to: "The Department of Economics is the biggest farce!" and "Maths 7, the stuff stinks."

Supposedly funny are: "Kiss me honey, I don't get sick easy." or "Join the Canadian Navy; apply at Bill Gentleman's office.

Poetic attempts occur in English, French, and Latin. As an example, we have the following inanity: "Isn't it funny that a bear likes honey? Buzz, buzz, buzz, I Wonder why he does?"

Several selections are in what is obviously supposed to be Morse Code, but which do not transliterate. One scribble resembles baby talk, but professes

Orchestra Has Played at Many Local Functions

The Union House Committee is staging the second informal of the season tomorrow evening at 9 p.m. Eddie Alexander and his orchestra will be in attendance. As is customary at Union Informals refershments may be bought throughout the course of the evening in the Cafeteria.

Though this is the first occasion on which Eddie Alexander has appeared at a Union dance, he has had a wide experience playing at various social affairs in the city, among which may be counted various appearances at several St. George's and St. Andrew's Balls.

Series of Informals Planned

The dance is the second in a series of Informals planned by the Union House Committee. It is planned that these will be held every few weeks throughout the year with the object of providing the student body with entertainment at a nominal charge.

Although the sale of tickets has been brisk, many more can be obtained at the Tuck Shop or at the door tomorrow night at $1.00 per couple.

Douglas Hall To Hold Informal Hop Tomorrow

Tomorrow night at 8.30 Douglas Hall will present their first informal hop of the year. This exclusive event will take place in the Refectory. The tickets are 50 cents per couple to residents, and 75 cents to non-residents who are guests of some resident student.

Couples will dance to recorded music and refreshments will be served at approximately eleven o'clock. Walt Percival, social convener at Douglas Hall in commenting on the dance, emphasized the informal nature of the event and said, "Wear a plain tie and do your own polka dotting."

Election Held By Freshettes

Patsy Dunton Made President Of Class of '45

Moyse Hall was taken over yesterday by the Freshettes after English 2—with the permission of Dean MacMillan, however, who ended his lecture ten minutes early and also ordered all Freshmen to leave the hall, so that the girls could hold their election of class officers.

Sylvia Grove, president of the Womens' Union, presided over the assembly from the platform, and, in a short speech before the election, outlined the duties of these officials. She then asked for nominations for each office in turn. The girls so nominated mounted the platform for inspection, and then retired behind the curtain while the vote was taken by a show of hands. Helping Sylvia Grove to count the votes were Pat Neilson, Dorothy Murray and Mary Eddy.

The new president of the Freshette class is Patsy Dunton, who will take charge of such activities as entertainments and class photographs. Vice-president Joyce Ault, Secretary-Treasurer Joanne Whitman and Athletic Representative Sue Mackay will share with her the responsibility of arranging all class activities of this year's Freshettes.

McGill Student Is First Commissioned Chinese

Mr. Roger Cheng, a graduate of McGill University, is believed to be the first Chinese to win a commission in the Canadian Active Army. He was awarded his commission as a second lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Corps of Signallers. Recently Cheng received orders to fly to Brockville, Ontario, to take a six-weeks advanced course in signals technique.

Cheng, while at McGill, received the degree of Bachelor of Electrical Engineering. Last winter he joined the Canadian Officers Training Corps at the University of British Columbia. He was born at Lillooet, British Columbia, where his grandparents were farmers.

R.V.C. Nominations Must Be In Tomorrow Noon

Tomorrow at noon is the deadline for nominations to fill the posts of President, Vice-President, Secretary-Treasurer, and Athletic Representative in Second, Third, and Fourth Year R.V.C. Nominees for the posts of Valedictorian and Class Historian are also asked for by the Fourth Year.

In order to be accepted, each of the nominations must be signed by at least ten women students. They must be left in the Women's Union Box in the Porter's office at R.V.C. Elections by ballot will be held during next week to decide who will hold these posts.

Thomson Tells Of "Air Life"

Views Effects Of Pressures On Pilots

At a gathering of more than sixty-five members of the McGill Pre-Medical Society, Dr. D. L. Thomson, the head of the Department of Bio-Chemistry, gave a talk on the physical effect upon commercial pilots and Air Force men, of changes in air pressure. The Doctor discussed the different phases of the "air life" of a pilot, and suggested that the means of combatting the dreaded "blackout" in a power dive has been found. He also mentioned that parachute jumping is not as "terrible" as is generally thought, but that it is more like drifting in a breeze at 125 m.p.h. A very keen interest in the topic was shown, as the brisk question period which followed revealed.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Charles Harris announced his resignation as President of the Society. Written nominations will be received by the following members, who are themselves eligible for the offices to be filled:

President: To be elected
Vice-Pres.: To be elected
Secretary: Haakon Murray, 2nd year
Representatives: Bert Pullinger, 4th year, Joan Aikens, 3rd year R.V.C. Elizabeth McLaughlin, 2nd year R.V.C. Ronald Bain, 2nd year.

The election will be held at the next meeting of the Society on October 30th. The first tea this season has been definitely set for November 16th, at 4:00 P.M.

Kirkpatrick Is Acclaimed as Representative

George Clarke Withdraws Nomination

Owing to the fact that George F. Clarke withdrew his nomination, J. G. Kirkpatrick was today elected by acclamation as representative from the Law Faculty to the Students' Executive Council.

The election was made necessary when W. J. Donnelly, former representative from the Law Faculty, did not return to the University this season. Donnelly was elected to the post last year.

The executive of the Students' Council consists of nine members including representatives of the undergraduate societies of Arts, Law, Medicine, Science, the president of the Union and presidents of various athletic clubs. The council is the only recognized medium between the students, the university authorities, and the general public. It has control of all funds contributed by the general body of students to any undergraduate enterprise and it also has supervision over the college paper.

It is particularly specified that the representative from the faculty of Law be from third year. The election of the Law representative to the Students' Executive Council was to be held today, but owing to the withdrawal of George F. Clarke, the proposed election was cancelled.

Dr. Wilder Penfield Reports On Health of British People

After 10 weeks overseas, Dr. Wilder Penfield, Professor of Neuro-surgery at McGill, reports that despite extra work and privation, the health of the people of Great Britain has never been better. Dr. Penfield, on July 24 of this year, flew to Britain as the representative of the associate committee on medical research of the National Research Council of Canada. The late Sir Frederick Banting headed the committee until his untimely death, and the work is now being directed by Dr. James Bertram Collip.

Dr. Penfield, speaking further on the subject, stated that there has been a number of misleading statements concerning the general health of the people in Britain, such as reports of hysteria and difficulty among the civil population. "Observations over a period of weeks refute this directly," he stated.

"There is less psychoneurosis and hysteria among the civil population in Great Britain than during peacetime," he stated. "It has practically disappeared. I believe it is all part of the extraordinary reaction of the general public in Great Britain. They are really wonderful. Almost everyone is doing a double job. There is no complaining, no malingering, and no imaginary neurological ills."

"This," he continued, "is possibly due in part to a carefully worked out plan of insurance, and the effective manner in which casualties are looked after in an excellent hospital reorganization under the emergency hospital service."

Though the medical profession is carrying on extraordinarily well, he stated that there was a real shortage of doctors both in the army and civil life.

"But," he continued, "from the point of view of general health, there is no indication of deficiency in the people."

Dr. Wilder Penfield Reports On Health of British People

They lack many things in their diet but the essential elements of nutrition are available and it is my conviction, after careful study, that the general health of the people in Great Britain has never been better in spite of privation and extra work."

Dr. Penfield was profoundly impressed with the absence of epidemic diseases last winter despite the crowding in bomb shelters. The problem of epidemic disease is being watched very carefully by the Ministry of Health. "They were even freer of influenza last winter than we were on this side of the water."

Emphasizing the good results which had attended the mobilization of every man and woman for the war effort he said, "Each citizen can feel that his work is being directed toward that one great goal—the elimination of Hitler and his Nazi gang."

All desiring to play on their company team either see their Company Sports representative or appear on the field with your company team prepared to play as scheduled. Get out and help keep your company in the running. Your team scores five points for each game played and in addition five points for each game won.

Each team will appoint their own manager and captain on the field. The Referee will be on hand for the game. Game report cards must be filled out and turned in to the Athletics Office after the game.

All men playing must have been medically examined.

Watt Enters Finals In Net Tournament

four up to yesterday. In his last match he was extended to three sets by the eigth ranking player, Tony Wolever. But statistics are not always infallible, and, as in any other sport, anything is liable to happen.

If everything goes well, then, tomorrow will see the close of, perhaps the most successful tournaments in the history of the competition. It is one in which the intercompany method of scoring has flourished, the extra large entry list vouches for that. Thus far, Watt has been the high point winner; and he being in Commerce, "A" Company reaps the gain. Richer is carrying the mail for the Engineers of "E" Company, and Henneman is representing the doctors.

Sports Rally Featured In Military Tattoo

chosen by lot, and each of the units will be identified on the loud-speaking system.

TORCH SWINGING

The sports section of the program will be rounded off with an exhibition of illuminated torch swinging. This is a very spectacular form of entertainment, for the colours of the lights can be changed to produce different effects. It will be remembered that a similar display was a great success at the tattoo in the fall of 1939.

The program on the whole is a varied one and should hold interest for everyone. The military display, the sing-song, and the band music has been planned to please every taste, and the sport show will be of a calibre for which McGill is renowned.

Desks Provide Rich Harvest of Nonsense

to be code: "Ickle illys wot ill illys wot wiches."

Some are tragic in vein, as: "Alas, I am dead!"—"This is my last day at McGill."—"Nothing hath fury like a woman scorned." "Verily, verily, this beeth true!" "(True, perhaps, but not correct.") But the most touching of all is this: "We wuz robbed!! we didn't see Madeleine."

There are advertisements for blondes and misogynistic comments, there is the occasional prayer, and frequent salacious phrases, there is flagrant conceit and unassuming modesty, but the most pointed and apt remark is: "Peter, you stupid half wit, haven't you anything better to do?"

STUDENT CAPUT IS SET UP BY MEDICAL EXECUTIVE

A Student Caput composed of five students of the Medical Society Executive, has been set up "to deal with any future actions that may be deemed prejudicial to the welfare or reputation of the student body" of the Faculty of Medicine, or the university, it was officially announced by the Medical Society Saturday.

The announcement followed repercussions arising from misconduct of certain medical students at the Second Annual Medical Banquet in Hart House on Oct. 2, for which 50 students connected with the disturbance have been fined $5 each by the Society.

The Student Caput will be composed of President and Vice-President of the Medical Society, the President of the Medical Athletic Association, and the Presidents of the Fifth and Sixth Years. This year these positions are held respectively by G. A. Gould, S. C. Best, D. R. Clark, C. G. Preece and R. G. Bell.

This body will have the power to discipline any students brought before it, to the extent of recommending to the Faculty that the offending student be expelled.

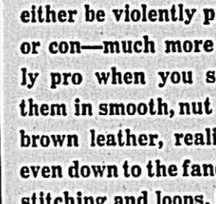
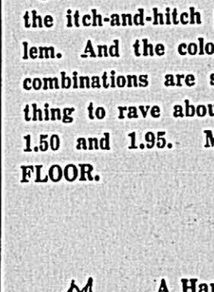
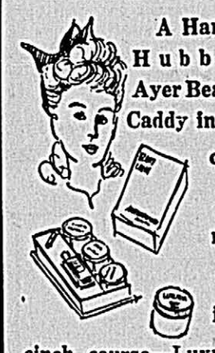
Pep talk for your new rage-about-town 'V' neck sweaters, suits, et al — this grand white cotton pique dickey, 1.25. For your not so 1941-ish models, get the round collar dickey, in white or pink cotton pique, 1.00. And on all of them, press your initials — as simple as that! White and blue rayon sharkskin dickeys, .79. Initials, only .10 each. MAIN FLOOR.



As much of a dither this year as knee-high socks last year—these Cowgirl boots will call forth plenty of comment. You'll either be violently pro or con—much more likely pro when you see them in smooth, nut brown leather, realistic even down to the fancy stitching and loops. Sizes 4 to 8. 5.50. SECOND FLOOR.



Taken-for-granted knee-high socks get a new twist with a clever pretend-cable stitch pattern or a diamond design. Made of soft all-wool and equipped with Lastex tops that do away with the itch-and-hitch problem. And the colour combinations are something to rave about! 1.50 and 1.95. MAIN FLOOR.



A Harriet Hubbard Ayer Beauty Caddy includes five necessities in one cinch course—Luxuria Cleansing Cream, Skin Lotion, Face Cream, Face Powder, and Lipstick. All for 1.75. An extra jar of Luxuria for 1.40, 3.00, and 4.50. Main Floor.
